Weekend

Five flee house fire

A house fire north of Drayton Valley was the only major incident on a relatively quiet weekend according to local RCMP.

No one was hurt in the late afternoon fire on Saturday although five people, including four children, were forced to flee the burning house.

Fire chief Sheldon Fuson said the house suffered extensive heat and smoke damage.

Maggies to open

A new 30-seat restaurant is scheduled to open next month in Drayton Valley.

Dwayne and Diane McGinn have purchased the former TransAlta Utilities building at 4912-50th Avenue (immediately east of Fas Gas) and are opening Maggies, a restaurant specializing in chicken.

Renovations are underway and McGinn says he hopes to be open for business December 1. The new restaurant will be located in the east side of the building.

Dr. John Hunter will operate his chiropractor business out of the west side of the building. Both businesses will have their own entrances.

'Oliver'

Oliver (Rachael Johnston) grimaces as Bill Sikes (Dennis Harris) scolds him for running away in the upcoming D.V. Players production of Oliver. Nancy (Linda Bennett) looks on during one of their rehearsals last week. See story A5.

No license

Badick scratches new Taurus car

By Lorne Christensen
Better late than never.
A philosophy George Badick must believe in after winning a new Taurus car on the Western Express.

For the 80-year-old it was the first time he had won anything big, but he'll probably never drive the car because he has no license.

"I think I'll sell it and use the money," he laughs.

Badick won the car on the scratch and win promotion on a Western Express ticket he bought at D&W Confectionery.

Badick says the clerk in the confectionery pulled out one ticket for him and he said "you keep that one and give me the next one."

It proved to be the lucky one.

Badick came close once before on lottery tickets to winning big.

"I once had a ticket for one million and every number was right except for the last one."

This time the retired farmer wasn't to be denied.

"It's the first time I've bought a car or truck and paid cash for it," he chuckled.

Badick and his wife Eva, who have two sons, Roger who works at the hospital and Dick at the ERCB, say they will probably sell the Ford product.

"It's too bad it couldn't have come years ago when we badly needed a car," Eva added.

Badick says he regularly plays the different lotteries and has won "small prizes" before.

"I don't smoke and I don't drink so I spend money on lottery tickets," he added.

George and Eva Badick.

Plan on display

People should take more interest in Drayton Valley's new municipal plan.

That's the opinion of Councillor Charlie Miner.

Miner, who is also chairman of the Yellowhead Regional Planning Commission (YRPC), the people who assembled the new municipal plan, says people don't know what such a plan can offer. Then they often find out later, when they go to build.

People who didn't get out for two previous meetings, will get another chance today (Tuesday) with an open house from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Legion. The first two sessions were held in the basement of the town office, and Miner feels that location had a lot to do with the poor turnout.

Copies of the new five-year general municipal plan will be available for viewing and representatives of the YRPC will also be on hand.

"I'd like to see people come out and give us some input," Miner says.

Wind is expected

It'll be cold and windy over the next few days according to a forecast from the Edmonton weather office for Drayton Valley and area.

Today (Tuesday) increased snowfall is expected along with easterly winds causing drifting. Highs are expected around -10 C with lows falling to -15 C.

For Wednesday the outlook is more snow with lows near -16 C and highs reaching a chilly -9 C.

There is a 60 per cent chance of blizzards on Thursday and Friday. Lows both days will reach between -15 C and -18 C. Highs during the two days will be around -6 C to -9 C according to the long-range forecast.

What do you think of Canada's Postal System?

Herb Reich

"I think it's terrible. I don't know if it's just the personnel here or in general. It cost you $2 to mail a letter, 24 cents for the stamp and $1.50 to call to see if it got there."

Everett Brandt

"Here I'd say it's fair. Not real good, but fair."

Glen Wickstrom

"It's okay. At least here it seems not bad."

Derek Jones

"In Drayton Valley it seems to be good. The people are really nice and pleasant."

Bohdan Urchahyn

"Can I say I think it's the physical (sleep)."

Council News

The town now has a rough copy of the script for their $22,000 video project. The video may be ready by Christmas and there's a possibility it will be shown at the town's 30th birthday in February. It will also be available in cassette form.

The town plans to enter into a new lease agreement with Cornerstone Jewelry at a cost of $8120 per year plus 24.75 per cent of utility costs, property taxes, insurance costs, garbage pick-up costs and any other costs which are the responsibility of the lessee, but are incurred by the town.

A strip mall and retail outlet north of the Towers Clinic on 50th Street has been rejected by the municipal planning commission.

Meanwhile, approval has been given to Dwayne and Diane McClintock to operate a restaurant in the building currently occupied by chiropractor Dr. John Hunter, at 4912 50th Avenue.

Ron Williams and Cathy Parker are the newest members of the municipal library board. Williams will sit on the board until Dec. '88 and Parker until Dec. '89.

Cheques were signed last week for the five community grants recommended in October by the recreation board. Grants of $1,000 each were awarded to the DV Soccer Society, DV Gymnastics and the Junior Forest Wardens and $500 each for the Derrick Boxing Club and the Jack Rabbit Ski club.

Town council have set Dec. 4th at 3 p.m. to meet with members of the recreation board and the Community Centre Society to discuss the proposed community centre.

Administration has been authorized to look into the cost of erecting boards around the asphalt pad in MacKenzie Park for the purpose of providing an outdoor rink. Council was told last Thursday there was $3,500 available to do the work, however, town manager Manny Deol reported that wasn't enough money.

Council has decided not to increase the dog fines. Instead, the town plans to continue with an education program to promote awareness of the responsibility of owners of animals in town.

Administration has been authorized to purchase one solid contact clarifier and two automatic gravity filters from Ecodyne Ltd. at a cost of $186,536 for the expansion of the water treatment plant.

The town plans to approach Alberta Transportation about the possibility of erecting traffic lights at the junction of Highway 29 and the entrance to the Sturdi Wood strandboard plant.

Acting on a request from Sturdi Wood, town council has changed 34th Avenue to Sturdi Wood Drive.

Still no boundaries

MD moving ahead

By Gary Logie
The proposed municipality of Drayton Valley "will likely go ahead," says Paulette Emmel of the ID 14 Ratepayers Committee. Emmel spoke to the Review following a brief meeting with Municipal Affairs Minister Neil Crawford.

"He told us the MD would likely go ahead, but the boundaries were as yet undetermined," she said. The committee met with the minister to present their concerns on the inclusion of ID territory in the new MD.

"He listened to our concerns and we are hopeful he will take them into consideration," said Emmel. "He was definitely understanding."

Municipal Affairs

researcher Ian Wight, who did the Drayton Valley MD study, said, "We expect a (ID 14 study) draft will be available fairly soon, but I don't think it's a situation where they're waiting on it to make a decision" on the Drayton Valley MD.

The ID committee is worried inclusion of their present territory into the new MD would put "unfair" tax burdens on "over 8,000 people."

Suggestions from Whitecourt MLA Peter Trynch the province might grant money to the ID to make up for lost tax revenue met with suggestions the money be granted to the new Drayton Valley MD instead.

Wight said the next step in forming the Drayton Valley MD would be a MLA's meeting of all affected territories, but he could not provide dates.

County sells park land

The County of Parkland plans to sell some park reserve in Violet Grove.

The county intends to cancel the park reserve for Lot P, Block 2, Plan 204 K.S. with the intent of selling the parcel of land.

If no written objections to this proposed cancellation and sale are received today (Tuesday), the county will proceed without any further notice. But, if any objection is received, on or before the Nov. 18 deadline, a public meeting will be held tomorrow (Wednesday), 10:30 a.m. at the county office in Stony Plain.

If you require more information, call C.R. Beckenridge, director, municipal planning, County of Parkland at 963-2231.

Toughlove to present movie

'Not My Kid', a movie dealing with the drug problem among teenagers is coming to Drayton Valley.

The movie will be shown at the Thursday, Nov. 27 meeting of Toughlove, at 7:30 p.m. in Room 7, Hallway B at the Frank Madock high school. Anyone interested is welcome to attend.

Toughlove reports good response to their presentation at the recent teachers' institute. Seventeen people attended the morning session and 38 took the opportunity to learn more about the parent self-help group in the afternoon.

Taxing problem

Bright side to problem

By Gary Logie

Local businessman Dave Ponte's tax battle will move to a different front following town council's decision last Thursday.

Ponte, who's upset at the town's "black and white" tax laws and 18 per cent penalty on overdue accounts, had his appeal denied at last Thursday's council meeting.

But despite council's decision Ponte feels there is a "bright side."

"The mayor indicated to me council is committed to reviewing the tax act to see what can be done to make the laws fairer for ratepayers," he said.

"They are happy I brought it up and will be looking at restructuring them so they are a little less rigid and fairer to the taxpayer."

Mayor Mayhew told the Review that council reviews the laws on a yearly basis, but that he is in favor of the 18 per cent penalty because it is a strong reminder to get taxes in on time.

Although little will be done concerning Ponte's tax bill this year he will receive a small rebate because of an adjustment to his assessment rate, but that is a provincial matter, he said.

Ponte will now take his concerns to the provincial level because "the root of the problem lays with the making of the laws.

"I have talked with (Drayton Valley MLA) Shirley Cripps about it and she said she would definitely be taking my concerns to the appropriate government departments," he said.

Monday

Award deadline

Next Monday, Nov. 24 is the deadline to get your nominations in for the Drayton Valley and District Chamber of Commerce citizen-of-the-year award.

Nominations can either be left at the Chamber of Commerce office or sent to Citizen of the Year, Box 1318, Drayton Valley, Alta.

More than 100 letters were sent out to groups and organizations in Drayton Valley and area. Any group who may have been missed, can get a copy of the guidelines at the chamber office or the Western Review.

The winner will be announced at the chamber's Dec. 5th general meeting.

Opinions

It's a shame — library losing its books

Collection agencies have their place in society. They're geared to go after people who don't pay their bills on time.

With that, the Drayton Valley municipal library isn't the place we'd expect to find a collection agency.

Rut that's the case.

Actually the case is, the collection agency has been called upon to deal with people with overdue books, even though they have received four written notices.

A recent campaign by the municipal library to accept overdue books without penalty, was close to a flop. The response was less than in previous years.

Librarian Lois Peterson says book lenders are tending to let their overdues slide and that is creating a shortage of time to handle other administrative duties, not including the loss of books.

It's actually sad to think that people go to the library to borrow a book, and never return it.

How many of those same people would be the first to holler if the rates were doubled. Maybe, instead of penalizing everyone, anyone who has an overdue book should have their membership revoked. And, their name could be forwarded to the provincial library association so they can't do the same thing in another town.

The library is a valuable learning resource in any town, but if the lenders don't return the product, we might lose the privilege.

1987 edition

Almanac spells cold weather for editor

This is usually the time of the year when I ask myself why I continue to live in this part of the country.

The 'cold' weather just doesn't appeal to me that much anymore.

But, it's a thought I've had for years, and our family always seems to tough it out. Despite my feelings about the cold, snow and icy roads, the north (Alberta and B.C.) is where we have spent most of our lives.

Last November, if you care to remember, was a nasty month. But after that, it wasn't such a bad winter.

We can all undoubtedly recall some cold winters.

Like 1966, while working at Dawson Creek, B.C., we went 18 days when it never got warmer than -55 F. Life went on, including an outdoor speed skating meet.

The cold reminds me of a 'warm' telephone call I had last May. I had only been

NEWS ITEM: Library calls on collection agency to help get overdue books back...

Editor's Notes

in Drayton Valley five months when the owner of a paper in Osoyoos, B.C. called and offered me the editor's job.

Because our family was just getting settled here, I turned the offer down, but suggested they call back in December when it was 40 below. I didn't get the call. But maybe, just maybe, he took my suggestion as Dec. of '86.

If you're not familiar with Osoyoos, it's one of Canada's hot spots with a summer average temperature of 95. The only other thing one has to contend with are their snakes.

While we all complain about the weather

(just take note of how many conversations start off talking about the weather), it always seems to be worse somewhere else.

Maybe a winter holiday to California is the answer.

The '87 edition of the Farmer's Almanac indicates lots of snow and cold in the months ahead.

Next month, they're calling for a cold snap and snow Dec. 4-6 with cold Dec. 11-15 and also around Christmas from the 23-26.

Three cold snaps are predicted for January followed by a snowstorm in mid-February and severe cold. It's no better in March with a snowstorm and cold in the first week with severe cold in the middle of the month.

But, the Almanac does have some good news. A 'heat wave' is booked for June 1-3.

Black Gold

New banquet room is opened

The new 100-seat banquet room at the Black Gold Inn was officially opened last week.

Manager Gunther Schmidt and shareholders Horst Janssen of Germany and Norman Elliott of London, England treated 65 guests to a beautiful sit-down supper last Wednesday evening. Many of the guests in attendance worked on the renovations.

Oliver!

Curtain goes up Thurs.

By Gary Logie

This year's DV Players musical production of "Oliver" promises to be their best yet, according to organizers.

Besides being the best, it will also be the largest ever undertaken by the group.

Total participation by area residents is "somewhere around 100, with a quarter of them being children," said director Judi Thompson.

But, the show's size won't become a regular thing with the Players.

"It will probably be the biggest we ever do," she said. "I can't see people spending the time to do it again. The actual time it has taken is phenomenal."

The new banquet room is part of a major renovation project undertaken at the hotel. Also included in the changes is an expanded lobby, offering separate counters for the restaurant and the hotel. The exterior of the hotel has also been altered.

Schmidt thanked everyone who worked on the project and added, "It fulfills a need in the community."

Mayor Bob Mayhew commended the Black Gold for the fine facility.

Norman Elliott extended his thanks to the Schmidts (Gunther and Ann) and the staff who continued their fine work, despite the renovations.

Contractor Peter Jacobs signified completion of the project, when he presented a giant home-made key to Schmidt, Elliott and Janssen.

Preparations began for the play last April and auditions for the 55 parts went til the end of August.

Since that time the players have been rehearsing almost daily, along with attending several workshops on singing, drama and makeup.

But, "all the work has been absolutely worth it; everything is coming along really well," said Thompson.

And she foresees no stage fright problems, despite the number of youngsters.

"They've been very good and they're enjoying it. Those kids will be fine on stage. I don't see any problems with them at all."

"And the adults are good, too. We have some super (singing) voices," said the director.

Because the play is being held at H.W. Pickup and the stage is so large, there will be no curtain.

So when props have to be changed, it will be done by costumed actors and propmen as part of the scene.

Tickets for the Nov. 20, 21, 22, 28 shows and the two performances on the 29th went on sale last week.

They are available at Guardian Drugs (Penney's), Ben's Delicatessen, Mike's Food Store, D&W Confectionery, Home Hardware, McGee's Men's Wear, Rick's Sporting Goods and Value Drug Mart.

People pack Legion for Remembrance Day

A standing-room-only crowd of 350 people turned out last Tuesday to pause and pay their respects at the annual Remembrance Day services at the Royal Canadian Legion.

Because of -14 C temperatures and a cold wind, the annual parade was cancelled and the entire service, including the laying of the wreaths was held in the Legion auditorium.

Wreaths were laid by Mrs. Durham, representing the mothers; Betty McGee, in her role as Legion president and also on behalf of the County of Parkland; Claire Carefoot on behalf of MLA Shirley Cripps, Mayor Bob Mayhew, chamber president Marty Prentice, RCMP Staff Sgt. Les Bannerman, Alice McGregor representing the Royal Canadian Legion Auxiliary, Edith Norquay for the senior citizens, Bobdon Uchysyn on behalf of the BPO Elks, Glen Bowen for the Drayton Valley Lions Club, Chris Nordine and Lee Wagner for the Cadets, Guides, Brownies, Beavers, Cubs and Barb Cable, representing the departed Branch 269 members.

The last post and reveille was played by Gary Lorenz. Joe MacLellan played the bagpipes and Jim Mussel was the organist. Vern Barlett was the master of ceremonies with Cpl. Tom Turner serving as parade marshal and the Sargeant At Arms was Bob Metcalfe.

Members of the Drayton Valley RCMP detachment, dressed in their red serge, acted as escorts for the many people laying the wreaths.

Sandwiches and coffee were served following the service. Later in the day, MacLellan, joined by Lynn Davies, played several selections on their bagpipes for a very appreciative Legion audience. Cpl. Turner also presented the RCMP coat of arms to president Betty McGee to place on the walls of the Legion.

Legion services go to hospital

It will be one Remembrance Day Linda Thompson will never forget.

For the first time since 1949, the well known Drayton Valley resident had to miss the Nov. 11 services at the Royal Canadian Legion. The day before, she was admitted to hospital.

But her family, members of the Legion and friends didn't forget her.

Led by Joe MacLellan on the bagpipes, Legion president Betty McGee, past president Lou Mallock, Cpl. Tom Turner, who was the parade marshal at the services earlier in the Legion, Vaughn, Brenda and Danny Thompson visited her in the local hospital.

"This is the nicest thing that's ever happened to me. Thank you all so much," she managed to say during all the excitement.

The excitement of MacLellan on the bagpipes also spread all over the hospital and into the extended care wing. The Drayton Valley resident graciously accepted the opportunity to play for the patients, going up and down the hallways. Several hospitalized veterans walked to their doorways to listen.

A luncheon will be held from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the new banquet room at the Black Gold.

Tickets can be purchased at the luncheon or

Agricultural Society

Annual meeting nears

By LeOnal Larsson
388-2122

In 1961 four biologists with the provincial government arrived in Buck Lake to investigate the area, apparently due to reports of flooding.

They followed Mink Creek up to Paul Kramer's land where they found a good place to put a dam. They felt the reservoir formed would be an ideal place for fish to thrive.

Buck Lake News

But apparently there was some opposition, so the project was dropped at the time.

More recently, the federal government asked Kramer how much he needed for the land. He told them he didn't need the 35 acres so if they would build a nice park and fish pond they could have

it. The dam is now completed and further developing on the fish pond and park are continuing.

Ruby Woods attended the induction ceremonies for teachers in the St. Albert Community Centre in October. They also honored retiring teachers, including Freda Jason who taught at Buck Lake for several years.

The annual meeting of the Buck Lake Agricultural Society will be held Nov. 20, 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome. More interest is needed if services supplied by the hall are to continue.

Edmonton novelist Cory Taylor.

Award-winner comes to town

By Gary Logie

Not likely, considering Edmonton author Cory Taylor was three times lucky the first time.

Although she has been writing short stories, plays and television productions, she had never had a book published.

But when she finally completed 'Julie', a book about a young psychic girl in 1985, the book vaulted her into the writing limelight by winning three awards.

Since taking the literary world by storm Taylor has 'been very busy touring with the book.' The tour included two readings in Drayton Valley Nov. 12 at Frank Maddock high school.

The book won the 1985 Canada Council Children's Literature Prize, Canadian Literary Association Book of the Year, and the Alberta Writers Guild Book of Excellence.

The awards are even more surprising because "I didn't set out to write a children's book," said Taylor. "It all came very suddenly. I wrote a young adult novel instead of an adult's."

"It doesn't matter how much you have done previously," she said. "It's not until you have a book published that you are considered a writer."

"It's the overnight sensation thing that takes forever to happen."

Her first work was published in 1963 by The Edmonton Journal.

Although touring now consumes much of her time she enjoys doing it, especially when the children have already read the book, like here in Drayton Valley, she said.

"It lets you read from farther back in the book because they already know what's happening and you don't give away the ending."

"When you do four readings a day you can get bored. It's very bad when you don't read your own book properly," she said.

"And it's more fun. Children are very intense readers with good memories. Some of them know the book better than I do and you get, besides the standard questions, a couple questions you've never heard, which refreshes my memory about the book."

Hot on the heels of her first book's success and with more time to write, Taylor's second children's book is due out in September of 1987.

"The Doll" is partly based on the real-life adventure of her grandmother's trip to Red River, Sask. in the late 1800s, she said.

It's about a young, ill girl from present day who visits her grandmother and is given a very old doll with special powers.

The doll, the girl finds out, has the ability to transport her back in time and at times the doll becomes "very ominous."

Taylor is hoping for a repeat of her success now that "the spell has been broken."

"I was the perennial runner-up. I had reached the stage where I didn't expect to win, but now the spell has been broken."

Yes, the spell has been broken — three times.

People commended for aid at accident — EMT

Dear Editor,

I am a licensed Emergency Medical Technician working for a rural ambulance service. I was recently called to a motor vehicle accident on the highway, in which a young child was seriously injured. The reason I am writing this letter is that I would like to commend the following people that aided in helping get this child and her mother to the hospital quickly and alive.

Letters

The first is the gentleman who administered artificial respiration to the child, thus restoring her breathing. This gentleman, I don't know his name. Probably saved the child's life and in my books this makes him citizen of the year.

The second is the construction crew that worked quickly and efficiently to free the mother from the tangled wreck of her vehicle.

The third is the helicopter crew that flew the mother and child with my partner and myself attending to them to the hospital. The flight was smooth and quick.

Last, is the other people on the scene that helped in whatever way they could.

In closing I would like to say thank you to these above people who acted out of concern for the mother and child. These people are truly good samaritans.

Good job!
Rick Chorley, L.E.M.T.A.

Expo trip

Legion thanked for help

Dear Editor,

At the beginning of September, the junior high students at Tomahawk school, with the help of Mr. Hatto, began to plan a trip to Expo 86.

As the planning progressed, we decided we would travel to and from Vancouver and spend three days at the Expo site. We tried to get the government grant for $100 for each student, but the money had been sent back to the government, so it was unavailable.

After looking for other sponsors, the Royal Canadian Legion decided to donate the $100 per student. Because of their generous donation we were able to continue the trip and on Sept. 25, 23 students and five chaperones boarded a bus to Vancouver.

On behalf of the students who participated in this trip, I would like to publicly express my deepest gratitude to the Royal Canadian Legion.

Yours truly,
Tracy Pinder

Recreation

Equipment works on the dam being constructed on Mink Creek.

Mink Creek

Fish pond developed

Part of a 35-acre parcel of donated land is being turned into a large fish pond by the Alberta government.

The pond will be situated just south of Buck Lake on Mink Creek on land donated by Paul Kramer.

"It's been ongoing for several years and now we've got the funds together," said Pat Young, a habitat development unit leader from Red Deer who is working on the project.

"We'll be stocking it next spring and summer," Young says, adding they are hoping to put brook trout into the $300,000 pond.

He added they will probably re-stock the pond every two years.

Young said the pond will cover roughly 16 acres of surface area and a parking lot will also be constructed this winter.

"We plan to do some reclamation work," he added.

The money for the project is being provided through the "Buck for Wildlife" funds. The funds in the program come from every fishing and hunting license sold in the province.

Young said talk about the government building a hatchery on the site was just a rumor.

"We have no plans for that; it's just a fish pond stocked with trout for fishing purposes," he explained.

The pond is about three miles south of Buck Lake on Mink Creek.

The culvert leading out of the dam.

Looking down the spillway overflow.

Congratulations to Ed Hutzal.

If you missed it in last week's issue, the Drayton Valley Minor Baseball Association coach has been selected to attend a five-day coaches' camp in San Diego, California. Hutzal, winner of a J. Percy Page recreation award, is the only amateur coach in Alberta selected.

He's certainly deserving of the trip.

I remember on several occasions during the past summer, when the door bell rang at our home, almost every Sunday night between 10:30 p.m. and 11 p.m.—and standing there was Ed Hutzal with the Andex Oilers bantam baseball game sheets. In the background was his wife Iona, sitting in their truck along with the kids.

I always thought how lucky Ed was, to have the support of his family.

Hutzal, who will travel south in January, is already talking about his return. One of his first priorities will be to pass along some of the knowledge he picks up at the camp.

However, you won't find Hutzal behind the Oilers' bench next summer. He's moving up a notch to the midgets. One of his immediate concerns is finding a diamond for that age group.

But for now, his thoughts have to be on being selected, and the fact he will miss a week of winter. I wonder if he needs someone to carry his luggage?

Another 'major' development last week was the $10,000 donation by Amoco to the Drayton Valley Community Centre.

Anyone who has lived here, knows Amoco and the numerous contributions they have made to the community. You don't have to look any further than the $75,000 they gave the Park Valley swimming pool.

The $10,000 is the oil company's initial contribution towards a new community centre.

What we thought was so significant about the donation, was that both the volunteer Drayton Valley Community Centre Society and the town shared in accepting the money.

Almost since the first day a complex was mentioned, the Community Centre Society and the town have been at odds. But, the presence of Community Centre chairman George Bergquist and Councillor Charlie Miner accepting the cheque should be just what the doctor ordered.

If a community centre is to materialize in the next three years, it will take a total community effort.

The 'Battle of Alberta' hasn't been getting a lot of reaction around our office.

If you remember back to last hockey season, I went with the Flames to win it all. Oh, how close they came.

I also had a bet with Lorne Christensen, Ray Lainechbury and Bryan Gullion. Needless to say, they never paid it.

This season, with the Flames winning the first four match-ups, I've been getting the silent treatment.

Five clubs Inter-club bonspiel

Tuftin ends up fourth

Iris Tuftin ended up in fourth place at her second Canadian Finals.

Tuftin finished well behind Gayle Howes of Metiskow who won the ladies' barrel racing.

In Tuftin's first ride in this year's finals she rounded the barrels in 16.9 and was leading until Howes scored a 16.79 second run. Tuftin was eventually bumped to third place in the first round. For her efforts she took home $1,132.

Throw-a-thon at high school

It's a throw-a-thon in the truest sense of the word.

On November 25 and 27 students, staff and athletes from Frank Maddock high school will line up under the basketball hoops.

Staff from The Western Review will also be getting involved. Editor Frank Ryan along with reporters Gary Logie and Lorne Christensen will be taking part in the throw-a-thon.

They'll be trying to sink as many baskets from the free throw line as they can in the 10-minute time limit. The reason for the event, to raise money to buy new uniforms for the Amazons and Warriors basketball teams.

Amazon coach Lynette Tait said they will need to raise about $1,400 to pay for both teams' uniforms.

Donna Teeter recorded the high single in the ladies' league at the Twilite Bowling alley last week. Teeter's 303 was enough to earn her the high single while Laura Barker took the high triple with a 761. Team high single went to the Lofters with a 1,260 and team high triple was scored by the Hoopies with a 3,118.

In the mixed league Jill Lorenz had a 319 for the ladies' high single with Loretta Thorson bowling a 704 for the ladies' high triple. On the men's side Dennis McGurk claimed the high single and triple honors with a 343 and a 794. The Cliffhangers took the team high single and triple with scores of 1,174 and 3,166.

For the Golden Age league the bowlers of the week for Saturday's league were Ellen Stefenson with 64 POA (points over average) and Paul Piskunowitz with 65 POA. Katie Eluick and Adolf Wasser were bowlers of the month. In the Wednesday leagues the bowlers of the week were Marjorie Brennan with 66 POA and Cal Bartlett with 63 POA. Hilda Rand and Mike Mandriak took bowler of the month honors for the group.

YBC bowlers of the week included in the ban team group Tammy Adamson - with 44 POA and Rodney Cotton with 104 POA. Melodie Polites led the way for the juniors with 60 POA while Cory Mahan had 46 POA. For the YBC seniors, Cathy Porowski had 94 POA while Shane Hines scored 51 POA.

In the smurf league Kirk Jacobson, Rachel Kreier were named "smurfs of the week" and won balloon packs from A & W Smurf for the month was Jeffery Maclock who wins a gift certificate from Dawn Rae Jewellers.

Smurf team of the month was Wyatt Thorson, Jeffery Maclock and Mark Schuster.

In the Halloween marathon the best costume award went to Jeanie Tymchuk and Scott Davidson. Both win gift certificates from Rick's Sporting Goods.

Fourth

Clayton Hines' bid for his third Canadian saddle bronc title fell short during the Canadian Finals last week. Hines finished fourth overall tied with Duane Daines and Chris Andersen. Mel Coleman won the saddle bronc crown. Left, Hines aboard Miracle Whip during Wednesday's action. Hines came home with $1,053.

Drayton Valley will be the site of the 1986 Alberta Bronze Gloves boxing card.

The local Derrick boxing club was chosen to host the event last week. It will bring about 100 boxers to town on November 27 and 28.

Green Arrows and Saints lead

The Green Arrows and Parkway Saints sit tied atop the men's local commercial hockey league.

The undefeated Arrows have seven wins for 14 points with the Saints holding a seven-win, three-loss record.

In third the Wildcats have eight points with four wins and five losses. Last Chance Lancers and the Sabres are tied one point back at seven. Last Chance has three wins, four losses and one tie with the Sabres posting a three-win, three-loss, one tie record.

Rounding out the league is the Flyers in last place with only one win in nine games.

Quick to win

A goal six seconds into the game proved to be the winner as Rose's Clippers dumped Red Deer 11-0 in a recent midweek game.

The contest, last week between Rose's Well Service Clippers and Red Deer Kipp Scott was the league opener for the midweek game.

Jeff Riser started the rout with the six-second marker and pocketed another one at 10:39 and 7:31 in the first period for a hat trick. Dave Smestad and Clinton Sippola also notched hat tricks for the team made up of players from Warburg and Drayton Valley.

Todd Simon and Aaron Fiveland added singles in the game with Riser contributing two assists for a five-point night.

Randall Reimer stopped all 20 shots to earn the shutout while the Clippers fired 47 shots at Rick Wolff in the Red Deer net.

Pankewicz and Allen lead Devils to weekend wins

The Drayton Valley Devils ran their Heritage Junior B Hockey League record to a perfect 5-0 last weekend.

Tim Allen scored twice and set up two others as the Devils whipped the Spruce Grove Broncos 9-2 Sunday night. Twenty-four hours earlier, Trent Pankewicz added three goals and three assists as the Devils beat the visiting Barrhead Elks 9-4.

The Devils, who are now 4-0 both at home and on the road, have two games this weekend. The Rimby Weststars are in town for an 8:30 p.m. game Friday followed by a trip to Rocky Mountain House Saturday.

Bill Adler also scored twice against the Broncos with Chad Allen, Kevin Hutchinson, Blair Shimbashi, Sheldon Dunham and Grant McGinn notching singles.

The Devils held period leads of 5-0 and 7-1. Ten players were ejected with game misconducts, including six Devils. An incident at 3:31 of the second period saw seven players tossed out of the game, four of those were Devils. Twenty-six penalties were called with Drayton Valley tagged for 14. Drayton Valley continued their early season domination over Barrhead Saturday. After playing to a 2-2 tie in the first period, the Devils took a commanding 7-3 lead after the second. Danny Carefoot turned in another strong performance between the pipes, especially in the opening period when his mates were held to a tie.

Chad Allen, playing on a line with Trent Pankewicz, also had a productive night with two goals and two assists. Defenceman Kevin Hutchinson added a pair of goals with Tim Allen and Shimbashi notching singles.

The Devils took 21 of 29 penalties in the game with Barrhead and had to play shorthanded for most of the third period.

Half of the Devils' goals last weekend were scored by Trent Pankewicz and the two Allen brothers, Chad and Tim, with three each. Pankewicz also added five assists, Chad Allen had four and Tim Allen three.

Bashaw clips local midgets 9-5

Rose's Clippers built up a 4-3 first-period lead but it wasn't near enough in midget hockey action last Sunday night.

Visiting Bashaw scored three goals in both the second and third periods to skate off with a 9-5 win over the Drayton Valley squad.

The Clippers, who were outshot 40-33 and took 17 of 29 penalties, got two goals from Derek Folsfot and singles off the sticks of Cory Blanchard, David Smestad and Scott Kynoch. Trevor Sandquist had two assists for the losing Clippers.

In pee wee action last Saturday, Getzinger Rangers played to a 5-5 tie with visiting Lacombe.

Shaun St. Louis led the Rangers with a pair of goals. Kevin Dusterholt, Craig Pinkeshi and Shane Morien son had singles for the local squad.

In novice action Saturday, Jason Mizibrocky scored four goals as Warden Warriors dumped Evansburg 7-4. Marc Blanchard, Robb Janzen and Jason Ensminger had singles for the Warriors.

10 reasons why you should maintain and increase your newspaper advertising when business is slow.

- Whether business is good or slow, you have to get your share of whatever business is around. Cutting back your advertising puts you at a disadvantage at the very moment when you need an edge. Increasing your advertising gives you the edge.
- In times of uncertainty, consumers are careful and a little reluctant to spend. They want to be sure before they buy. They want information about products. Services, prices and values are available through newspaper advertising - yours or somebody else's.
- Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so it's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong. You're in competition for the customer's dollar with every other retailer in town, no matter what he or she sells. People have only so many dollars to spend and if they don't spend them for what you sell they'll spend them for something else.
- There are more people working now than ever before. More women working too, adding to family income. People still need and want goods and services and will spend for them. There is plenty of business out there. Your competitors will be bidding for their share - and yours.
- You can't do much about most factors in the marketplace - rent, labor costs, price of merchandise, what the competition will do. But one thing you do control is your own promotion. Remember that newspaper advertising is not just a cost of doing business. It's a proven sales tool that returns many times your investment in store traffic and sales.
- Remember how long it took you to get started? Once you build up a business, you can keep it going with a moderate, consistent advertising program. But if you cut your advertising and lose your hold on the public's awareness you'll find it's much harder to build it up again. It's sort of like starting all over.
- Your advertising is part of your sales force. Newspaper ads help to pre-sell the customers and help you close the sale faster. What saves you time saves you money.
- You say your customers know you and for a while at least they'll keep coming in even if you don't promote. That's partly true, but shortsighted. Remember, one out of five Canadians moves every year. So there's a steady flow of your customers out of your market, and a corresponding influx of new folks who don't know you at all. Tell them about yourself.
- Here's a hard fact to chew on. Over any given period, a business that advertises below the industry average has sales that are below the industry average.
- Advertising is "news" - about products and services. Your customers look for this kind of news in the pages of The Western Review. In plush times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

GIVE US A CALL. WE'LL HELP YOU PLAN A PROGRAM THAT WILL PAY DIVIDENDS IN ADDITIONAL TRAFFIC AND INCREASED SALES.

Waterline

By Debbie Briley
Don't let the cold weather keep you in the house this winter.

Come on down to the pool to relax and soak in the hot tub. The pool also has new programs to offer during the months of November and December.

We are offering our first Red Cross emergency first aid course. This is an eight-hour course which runs Nov. 24, Dec. 1, 8 and 15 from 9-11 a.m. This first aid course is suitable for handling any emergency situations.

Stroke clinic — Having a problem perfecting one of your swimming strokes? Enroll in one of the four clinics we are offering: Front crawl, Nov. 24; back crawl, Dec. 1; elementary stroke, Dec. 8 and breast stroke, Dec. 15. These courses run from 9-10 a.m.

Due to popular demand for adult swimming lessons and stroke improvement, extra classes have been set up in our winter program starting in January. Register soon in order to avoid disappointment.

Because of very few registrations in our family learn to swim program scheduled to start in November, we have been forced to cancel the class. We hope to offer this program again this spring with better results.

All Elementary B students: Don't forget about your leisure swim Nov. 20 and 21 from 1-3 p.m. Regular admission. You are more than welcome to bring your own toys and music.

Ladies: We have just recently started a new water program. Synchronized swimming is an excellent workout and is great for muscle toning and conditioning. Join us Tuesdays and Thursdays between 12 and 1 p.m.

For further information on our pool programs, feel free to call the cashier at 542-5749. For recreational swim times, call our message line at 542-5579.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Frank Maddock

This weekend will see both FMHS volleyball teams travel to Barrhead for the zone finals.

The boys' team got there on the strength of their first place finish in the conference finals and the girls on their second-place showing in conference playoffs.

The drama club is presenting a fun-filled evening of light-hearted entertainment on Nov. 26 at 7 p.m. in the theatre when they present the travelling troupe 'Laughing Stock'.

Also coming from within the drama club will be two one-act comedies on Dec. 1 and 2. The club will be performing 'Emil's Leap' and 'The Shock of his Life'. Curtain is at 7 p.m. in the theatre at FMHS.

Eldorado

The choir season at Eldorado begins early in December as Grades 1, 2, 3 and the Opportunity Room are set to go from the 1st to the 10th. Exact times and their performances are available from children in them.

And the 70-voice Grade 3 choir will not perform on Dec. 8 as scheduled, but on Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Eldorado gym.

Because of fire codes and a small gym the school requests only those parents with children performing attend.

Tomahawk

The parent's advisory committee meeting will be held tonight (Tuesday) at 7:30 p.m. in the school. All parents are welcome.

The school also reports their swimming classes are doing well and continue until Christmas.

Elementary B

Parent/teacher interviews go Thursday and Friday of this week at Elementary B. If parents haven't already set-up an interview they are asked to contact the school before they have to contact you.

Paul Vickers' Grade 6 class is set to graduate from their Values, Influences and Peers program that has been running since September.

The program deals with today's topics and attitudes towards drugs, stealing, friendship and the law.

All parents are invited to come out and watch the grad ceremony on Nov. 26 at 7 p.m. in the FMHS theatre.

St. Anthony's It's going to be a busy two weeks for the volleyball teams at St. A's as the boys travel to Entwistle today (Tuesday) and the girls prepare to meet Entwistle at home tomorrow.

Both teams will be in action Nov. 28 again as they travel to Stony Plain for the separate school juniors' tournament.

There will be a separate school board meeting on Nov. 20 starting at 5 p.m. in the gym. All separate school parents are invited to attend.

Breton

Report cards went home yesterday with the students and they will be followed up this Thursday and Friday with parent/teacher interviews.

The interviews go from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursday the 20th and from 9 a.m. to noon on Friday the 21st.

Blair Proctor leads the FMHS band during rehearsal last week.

H.W. Pickup, too

FMHS band set for 86/87 year

Frank Maddock high school has struck up the band for another year of concerts and music festivals.

Under the guiding hand of Blair Proctor, 33 aspiring musicians from H.W. Pickup and Frank Maddock's Grades 9 to 12 have turned out to make music.

"We find we have to (enlist from Grade 9 to 12) to get enough instruments to make a nice round sound," said third-year leader Proctor.

In a few years, he hopes to have enough musicians to form a junior and senior band.

and with 20 Grade 9s in this year's band that looks possible.

But, there are some problems that have to be over come first.

"All the kids are from music classes and the band is a credit course, but problems arise because it's the only class that runs all year long and it tends to conflict with other classes."

"A lot of the time we lose people (in the second and third semesters), which is unfortunate," Proctor said.

Another drawback to this year's band is the young age and lack of musical experience many of the members have.

"With over half being Grade 9s, it influences our music selection and it doesn't sound as mature. We won't be able to tackle the same level of music as senior bands at other schools, but if they stick with it that will change in a year or two's time they'll build confidence and expand musically," he said.

The band will again be giving a Christmas concert and one in the spring. They will also be playing in at least two music festivals, said Proctor.

ment Accounting BA 203.3, Tuesday, 7-9 p.m.; Marketing BA 201.3, Monday, 8-9 p.m.; and Administrative Principals BA 102.3, Monday, 8-10 p.m.

All courses will run from the week of Jan. 17 to April

Local toy lending program hits volunteer snag

Plans to run a toy lending program out of Drayton Valley's library have hit a snag.

The idea behind the program was to have a self-supporting parents' group loan out high quality educational toys to determine what best suited their own children, explained librarian Lois Peterson.

But the snag is no one seems to want to get involved running it, despite a number of people requesting such a service over the past year or so, she said.

Past library board member Jean Saunders is heading the drive to find people willing to operate the service, but she agrees with Peterson that people are hard to find.

At a recent organizational meeting only Saunders and one other person showed up.

"It wouldn't take very much work to operate the service because the library has already set up a system and allocated space to the project, but is unable to provide funding or manpower," they said.

Anyone wishing to help out with the project is asked to call Jean Saunders at 542-6748.

Student exchange program offers world-wide learning

Drayton Valley may soon be known world-wide.

Especially if the number of students who turned out to hear Wenzel Hanik expel the value of student exchange programs is indicative of things to come.

Hanik is the regional representative for the American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE) program in northern Alberta.

ASSE believes student exchanges promote a greater international understanding between people and countries.

The exchanges are open to students 15 to 18 years of age who maintain a 65 per cent school average and would be good Canadian ambassadors.

There are two basic types of exchange, explained Hanik, a school year homestay and a summer homestay.

The exchanges run on a first-come, first-serve basis but it is possible to request a certain family abroad, but that family must also register for the student, he said.

Would-be travellers must also provide a two-page typewritten autobiography, a two-page photo collage, two reference letters from teachers, a reference letter from the school administrator, and one from a social or church organization supporting the student's qualifications.

The student is also required to submit three passport-sized photos, health certificates if needed, transcripts from the past two years at school, and the fee for their chosen destination.

Fees vary according to destination, along with visa requirements. The students are also responsible for getting to the 'gateway' airport, said Hanik.

"But, the benefits far outweigh the expenses," he said, "all the families agree on that."

Although visa requirements are up to the students, "host countries are very accommodating because we're so well known and respected," said Hanik.

Now, a year away from home can be scary to anyone, and it's no different for Canadian children, he admitted.

"Canadians are usually very nervous and apprehensive, but they're also very excited. Most go to learn the language and that's what the whole thing is - a learning experience."

"Canadians seem to be more afraid, but that's because Europeans travel so much already. Their proximity to other countries is a big factor, he said.

To make the transition smoother students are carefully screened and set-up with families they would be comfortable with, he said. If problems do arise between the families and students, they are encouraged to try and "work it out first", but if all else fails a new home is found.

In the past year ASSE has placed 4,000 students, 167 in Canada and 26 in Alberta.

Of them 69 are from Canada, 12 from Alberta, he said.

Because of the increasing popularity of the programs those numbers are expected to rise and students interested in going abroad are encouraged to apply quickly, he said.

More information on the programs is available from Wenzel Hanik 967-2481, 967-2256 or Jim Wolff at Frank Maddock high school, 542-4401.

New staff and promotions at Beehive

They've been as busy as their namesakes at the Beehive Workshop lately.

So busy they've had to increase their staff and promote several people, said coordinator Kristin Callander.

Their inter-residents' program has been modified from two live-in managers to just one.

Sharon Heyland has been promoted to supervise the two houses used for this program.

Also added to the inter-residents program is Judy

Burge from Lethbridge, and Bertha Couture of Kamloops.

Peggy Lashley, Verna Burton and Scott Turnball have been added to the counselling department to teach independent home-living skills.

In the workshop itself, Caroline Hynes has joined the staff as a program worker to design and implement employment skills.

A new outreach position at the Beehive has been filled by Kim Dahl to help find approved accommodation for several clients.

Debbie McLeod has been promoted from activities manager to manager of the bottle depot and filling McLeod's old spot is Lynette Tsai who was the assistant activities manager.

Also in the activities department is the addition of Arlene Gjesdal, who will teach pre-vocational skills.

And Callander now has the added duty of approving new accommodations for those clients ready to live on their own.

Breton highway project okayed

Alberta Transportation will provide $18,500 to fund a highway lighting project at the central access to Breton from Highway 12. Minister of Transportation and Utilities Al "Boomer" Adair has announced.

The work involves the installation of five street lights at the intersection of Alberta Transportation's Highway 12 and 53 Avenue. This work is the result of negotiations begun last March between Alberta Transportation and the Village of Breton.

Adair said, "This work is being carried out under the auspices of Alberta Transportation's Primary Highway Lighting Program and will improve night-time driving safety in the area. Shirley Cripps (Drayton Valley MLA) has been most enthusiastic in her support of this project."

Anderson is transferred south

Merv Anderson, assistant manager at the Royal Bank in Drayton Valley for the past two years has been transferred to Lethbridge.

Anderson will be going to the bank's main branch in Lethbridge as senior assistant manager. The Royal Bank has four branches in the southern Alberta city.

Derek Califfs, from the bank's commercial centre at the main branch in Lethbridge, will replace Anderson in Drayton Valley.

Anderson started with the Royal Bank in his native

Merv Anderson

Saskatchewan. He had worked in branches at Pincher Creek, Didsbury and Calgary for 11 years before coming to Drayton Valley.

During his time in Drayton Valley, Anderson was on the chamber of commerce executive, played slow-pitch and enjoyed hunting.

"We don't like to leave. It's a comfortable location. And a good size for what it has to offer," Anderson commented.

Income tax time

Knowing necessary information will help

In a few months it'll be income tax time again so why not get on top of things now?

One of the things that can make tax preparation unpleasant is trying to find the necessary information. There's nothing worse than hunting for an important receipt the night before the deadline. Perhaps a farm office can help you get organized and make next year's tax time easier.

Getting the papers in order is an important step in setting up your farm office. The amount of paper that enters the farm business can be surprising. Decide what to throw out and what to keep. It might help to ask yourself, "Could this information help me make a decision?" A well organized system should allow for easier decision making regarding the farm business.

Once you have discarded all unnecessary paper, you are left with remaining papers and records to deal with. One of the ways to cope is to divide these into four categories: financial records, current information, production records and permanent records. Then, they can be handled accordingly. Let's take a closer look at the pro

You would also want to divide a second binder into four sections: paid invoices, receipts for cash purchases, partially paid invoices and unpaid invoices.

A second alternative might be an accounts book in combination with a filing system. The files would replace the two binders used in the first alternatives. But the same categories would be included: cancelled cheques, bank statements, income receipts, paid invoices, receipts for cash purchases, partially paid invoices and unpaid invoices. Choose whichever system you think would work best for you.

Current information

This refers to all material recently received such as receipts, invoices, bills, junk mail, notices, magazines, newspapers and manuals. Sorting is first required to discard useless information.

For temporary storage, items such as clipboards or accordion files can be used. It sometimes works well to leave a large envelope in your vehicle to place papers in as you do business. Then transfer the papers to one container until they are dealt with at month's end. Bulletin boards can be handy for notices or information that is used often. Store manuals and current magazines in a bookcase within reaching distance from your desk.

Production records

It's a good idea to develop a filing system for your reference information and production records. (Obviously, this is where a filing cabinet is needed.) Remember to make allowances for upcoming changes.

For more information on file outline, drop by our office for a free copy of Farm Office Fit It All Together or call 542-5368 and we'll mail one to you. Files should be revised annually — move historic records into permanent storage and throw out outdated information.

Permanent records

Each year, add financial papers and records to a permanent file. This can be in the filing cabinet if you have room or in a separate storage space. A good time to do this is NOW — well before income tax time.

Finally, it's best to keep very important papers in your safety deposit box. Getting started in setting up your farm office is often difficult. But the rewards make it worthwhile. If you start now, chances are preparation for this year's income tax will be much smoother.

Atoms win

By Wendy Schneider

Atoms rep team, DV Meter played a fast game in defeating Rimbey on Sunday by a 13-8 score.

Travis Brigley had an outstanding game scoring two goals and four assists, earning him first team star. Bryson Kuzek earned second team star by contributing four goals and two assists. Eric Schneider added three goals and one assist. Jason Powell and Darcy Lauder popped in single goals. Brooker Traletnberg put himself in the right place to assist on three goals.

The defensemen were sharp with Clayton Lindsay and Ian Cathrea each adding a goal while Matt Schultz and Chad Wilson added a pair of assists apiece.

Cory Davidson defended the home net to earn himself third team star.

DV Meier will host Caroline Nov. 23 at 2:30 p.m.

No quick fix

Organizers pondering future of the FCSS

By Gary Legie

More questions were raised than answered at the last organizational meeting for a Family and Community Support Service (FCSS) for Drayton Valley.

Organizers had brought in Ron Gordon from Edmonton's regional office to help get things rolling, but instead he left them pondering their cause.

"There's no quick fix to social problems that plague communities. Personally, FCSS is one of the best things since sliced bread, but I didn't come here to fill you full of vim and vigor."

"I came here to get you informed before actually setting anything up," he told organizers.

The committee told Gordon of past troubles with the town and how the old Preventive Social Services agency was dropped. They were concerned that attempts to start FCSS would meet the same fate before getting underway. But Gordon was unmoved.

"Because of the history of PSS, if I were a member of this town council I'd be very suspicious, too."

"Council believed they were being taken for a ride. That they had been sold a bill of goods that was never delivered," he said.

He also warned them about going ahead without council approval. "Don't try to do it under the table. If it isn't done openly it probably won't work anyway."

Gordon explained the 80 per cent government funding for FCSS would only be approved once they received a letter from town officials approving the service.

Despite "challenging you to think about it and realizing it's going to take time," Gordon said he is willing to help, "but don't expect overnight results."

Travel Alberta looking for counsellors

One of the advantages of living in Alberta, of course, is winter???

On the Thursday night of the storm I was speaking at the beekeepers' meeting at the Terrace Inn in Edmonton. A lady visitor from Houston, Texas was hoping against hope it would snow while she was in Edmonton.

Her wish was granted, with a vengeance. At 11 p.m. when I started home, I took her upstairs to show her the snow. She was absolutely delighted - just like a kid in a candy store. I guess we just don't appreciate snow and winter. I know I certainly didn't. It took me two hours to get from the Terrace Inn to the legislature, and traffic was backed up every which way. I just gave up and slept on a couch in my office. For me the novelty wore off in those two hours.

Seat belts were in the news again following a discussion at our policy conference on the issue. When considering legislation which would so dramatically impact personal freedoms, a 50-50 straw poll is really not very useful.

I'm still of the opinion that education is better than legislation. In provinces which have seat belt legislation, only 50 some per cent of the people wear them. This means that more than 47 per cent of the population are breaking the law. I believe such disregard for the law leads to contempt for the law. If, as some people claim, 60 per cent of the population approve of seat belts, why are only 28 per cent of the population wearing them and why do they need the government to tell them they have to wear them?

Mary LeMessurier, the former minister of culture and a person whom I'm sure has the respect of many Albertans, has been appointed as the new Agent General in the United Kingdom and Europe, with her duties to begin Dec. 8.

I am delighted with the appointment as I know how hard Mrs. LeMessurier has worked in government and for numerous community and charitable organizations. Mrs. LeMessurier will be working out of London, England at the Alberta House, which is active in promoting a positive investment attitude toward Canada and Alberta, encouraging the export of various Alberta goods and services to European markets, and attracting tourists and investors to our province. I know her knowledge of government priorities and our province's needs will be a big asset.

Alberta Transportation is providing $18,500 to fund a highway lighting project at the central access to Breton from Highway 12. Five street lights will be installed at the intersection of Highway 12 and 53 Avenue. The work, resulting from negotiations begun last March between the department and the Village of Breton, will improve night time driving safety in the area.

Are you a student who might be interested in spending your summer helping tourists with their travel plans within the province? Travel Alberta is looking for students to work as travel counsellors in their information centres located through the province, from April 26 to Sept. 8.

As a travel counsellor you would be helping to promote tourism in our province by counselling visitors, as well as performing other clerical duties. If you are enrolled in a post-secondary educational institution and might like to work as a counsellor, you should contact any Canadian Employment Centre for an application form and further details. The deadline for application is Dec. 12 (Competition No. TM0021-87X).

I can be reached through my Edmonton office during the week at 422-8156 (call toll free through Zenith 22333). My Drayton Valley constituency office is open on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays; the number there is 542-3355. My residence number is 682-3758.

Cardium Theatre movie reviews

AVENGING FORCE

Nov. 19-21

Set in New Orleans, this movie stars Michael Dudikoff as Matt Hunter, an agent with some kind of underground secret service.

He has retired from the force in order to take care of his kid sister after his parents were murdered.

When his friend Larry, played by Steve James, goes into politics and starts getting death threats, Hunter goes back into business. Larry is being dogged by a violent right-wing group of businessmen who call themselves Pentangle.

Pentangle hates upstart liberals — especially black upstart liberals — so Larry is a perfect target for their well-armed hate machine.

At about the half-way point in the story, Pentangle finally slaughters Larry's family, just before they do the same to him. They also kidnap Hunter's kid sister because they want to use this intrepid tough-guy as the quarry in their hunting practice. To keep their skills finely honed, Pentangle releases those hated upstart liberals into the swamps and then tracks them to their death.

This is not a movie for the weak of heart — or stomach. When Pentangle kills someone, they do it in the most gruesome way possible. If senseless violence and lots of blood are your forte, then this is the movie for you.

TOUGH GUYS

Nov. 22-25

If Douglas and Lancaster

had been given free rein this movie probably would have been a runaway success, but they weren't, so the film isn't.

Not that the movie isn't worth watching, it is; it's simply that when two greats get together on the screen there should be magic, not mediocrity.

The story has Lancaster and Douglas cast as aging ex-cons, recently released from serving time for train robberies. Lancaster has retired to an old folks home and Douglas is working as a busboy. In a society where they are expected to be thankful for what little they have, the two rebel and decide to commit another train heist.

There are some comical moments when they are first confronted with the outside world, and they certainly give cause for pause when they are expected to act as timid seniors, but instead they let fly with iron fists.

THE NEXT "CLASSIC"

■ The new all-purpose 95-hp 3150 Tractor and classic 4020 Tractor are the same horsepower and almost the same dimensions. Yet the new 3150 could be the next "classic." And here's why:

■ A 6-cylinder, 359-cubic-inch, naturally aspirated engine lets the new 3150 produce 95 PTO hp* with less fuel. And factory tests indicate the 3150 is about 5 percent more fuel efficient than the 4020.

*Horsepower measured at the PTO at 2400 rpm in factory tests.

Up, Up and Away...

Pilot Hank Bannister waits inside the chopper while Al Gibson checks two hunters on a remote outline south of Highway 16.

By Lorne Christensen

10 a.m. Lift-off...

Whirr...Whirr...Whirr...Whirrwhirrwhirr...

The slow, steady beat of the chopper turns into a fast, dull roar.

Whirrwhirrwhirr...it continues.

The helicopter's blades slice the cool, crisp morning air.

Like a bird leaving its nest, gracefully the chopper lifts off the ground. Clouds of snow whirl up, temporarily encasing the four-seat Jet Ranger helicopter.

Inside, pilot Hank Bannister and fish and wildlife officer Al Gibson prepare for the mid-morning excursion. It's one of the six government owned helicopters, and today its mission is for the fish and wildlife department.

Once above the tree tops the blue and white metal bird glides over the raw landscape. Below, the dark spruce and pine form a striking pattern against the ground blanketed with snow.

"It's about minus 18 up here," says Bannister into his radio head set, used so pilot and passengers can communicate over the pulsing roar of the engine.

Now at 500 feet the real mission begins. "Not many hunters," wildlife officer Gibson comments as they glide over the rugged landscape. Below, snow-covered outcrops and roads criss-cross the heavily treed land.

The helicopter sinks right, then left as it continues its mission.

Far off to the right Gibson spots a tiny dot of color in the frosted landscape. As the chopper approaches, three hunters in orange take shape in a small clearing.

"Let's take a look," Gibson says. Suddenly the chopper veers sharply to the left as Bannister circles to get a better view. "Looks alright," Gibson adds as they pass over the three. Again and again they "pass over" hunters, some on foot and some in trucks.

Gibson focuses his binoculars on the back of each truck — checking the boxes for any game. Several passes later, many miles later a group of five hunters is spotted.

"Let's go down," Gibson says motioning Bannister

The Jet Ranger lifts off the ground.

towards the group.

"I can't get in there," Bannister says about the clearing the hunters are huddled in. "I'd end up blowing a little snow on them," he laughs.

"I can walk up," Gibson says.

"I don't like getting too close; some guys get a little upset," Bannister explains as he sets the chopper down about 500 yards from the hunters, stirring up a thick cloud of snow.

Bannister, a veteran pilot, has been flying everything from jets to helicopters for 30 years, including 25 years for the Navy. Gibson has been with fish and wildlife for almost 10 years, the last two in Evansburg.

Gibson has been allotted six hours of flying time in the helicopter. Although it's "limited," it still works.

The gust of stirred up snow settles back down and Gibson climbs out as the helicopter's blades slow down. Several hundred yards away the five hunters stand while Gibson approaches. Their quiet hunting domain suddenly disrupted by the loud machine.

Back in the chopper Bannister sits patiently.

"The cold weather is keeping the numbers down," he says commenting about the few hunters they've seen so far. He adds they shut down the choppers if the temperature dips below 35 C. "It's because of the human factor; you crash and you're out of luck," he explains.

In his entire piloting career Bannister has only "come down" once. "I had an engine failure two years ago en route from Grande Prairie to Edmonton," he says.

"I was lucky. I made it about three miles and set down in a battery site. If you sink in the trees it rips the machine and trees to pieces."

Off in the distance Gibson is headed back towards the chopper. Two hunters follow.

"It probably means a ticket," Bannister chuckles.

Familiar surroundings

Alex Salafi, (right), returned to the town council chambers recently after winning a seat in the October 20 municipal elections. Salafi, shown here with Councillor Charlie Miner and municipal secretary Robin Wenbourne, sat on the town council from 1977 to 1983, then lost out to Bob Mayhew in the 1983 mayoralty race.

Invaluable guide for confused toy buyers

Faced with myriad toys to choose from when you enter a toy shop, have you ever thought, "If only I knew which of these hundreds of toys is really worthwhile?"

The Toy Report 1987, which for the first time is being co-published by the Canadian Toy Testing Council and the Consumers' Association of Canada, is an invaluable guide to toy buyers. It can help you make those confusing toy buying decisions more easily.

Each year, hundreds of toys are tested for durability, safety, and play value by the council. As well, the opinions of the real experts, the children, are sought to determine whether or not the toys are really "fun." The results are then rated using a system of stars.

Top rated toys receive three stars, which indicate the toy is durable, fun, and universally accepted by the age grouping recommended by the Canadian Toy Testing Council.

Two-star toys are still good toys. They are well made, durable, and enjoyed by the children, but they are, in some way, limited. For example, perhaps the toy is supposed to be able to do three things but in reality, can only do two.

A one-star toy can fall into one of two categories. The first category indicates there was nothing wrong with the toy but the children didn't enjoy it. The second category includes toys the children loved but the toys had some kind of deficiency, for example, one or two samples of the toy broke. If three samples break, the toy receives a not recommended (NR) rating.

However, toys can receive an NR rating for other reasons as well. "If a toy has the potential for misuse and could be unsafe for a child, it will receive an NR rating. The functional use is also assessed before a toy is rated," explained Julie Creighton, vice-chairman of the Canadian Toy Testing Council. "The concept of the item as a toy must be valid," continued Creighton.

A final rating and a new one this year is the novelty rating. Novelty is equivalent to a recommended rating. It indicates the toy is universally enjoyed but there is little a child can do with it. A pet rock would fall into this category. Novelty with an NR rating means the novelty item is not recommended.

Rating, product, age, price, and comments make up the toy reference section of the Toy Report. "We stress that consumers read all of the chart. The comments are extremely important," Creighton said.

The Toy Report, which has been revised this year to a new magazine format, will soon be available on newsstands, in supermarkets, department stores, magazine shops and bookstores. You can also order a copy from the Consumers' Association of Canada, Room 304, 10136-100 St., Edmonton, AB T5J 0P1. The cost is $5.95. If you order through CAC, there is an additional cost of $2 for postage.

Marriage rate is dropping

There's a saying that families seem to get together only for marriages and funerals. We're seeing each other less and less frequently then, if Statistics Canada's data on marriage are any indication. There were only 184,096 marriages in 1985, a drop of 20 per cent from 1972.

Highest Canadian award

Scouts are hospital volunteers

By Lorne Christensen
Five Drayton Valley scouts have been spending a lot of time in the hospital.

No, they aren't sick. They're helping out. The five local scouts have logged over 320 hours in the local health complex doing volunteer work.

And they are all working towards one goal — the Chief Scout award.

The award is the highest scouting honor in Canada.

"Each individual scout has to have 50 hours of volunteer time in the community," says local scout leader Brian Isert. The community work is just one of the steps the scouts are taking towards the Chief Scout award, according to Isert. Other qualifications they have already met include the pathfinder award, campcraft, being in a troop for more than one year and then the community work program. Following the volunteer work the scouts will turn their attention towards "providing leadership to others," the next step. The final step for the Chief Scout award is working on community improvements with other groups. Isert says they have already met that criteria after attending a council meeting.

Isert says the Chief

Scout award would be an honor to the pack because "it doesn't happen very often."

The work at the hospital came after the pack was "looking around for something to do for community service," says Isert.

"It's mainly to get involved in doing community work," he added.

So far they've done a lot of community work. As volunteers they work in both the extended care wing and the acute care wing of the hospital doing "odd jobs."

The jobs include everything from putting out water to watering plants to just "visiting with the patients."

At this point scout John Jones has logged the most volunteer hours, nearly 150. Other scout in the program include Sean Roberts, Kenneth Roberts, Brian Ander son and Kevin Thomas. Brent Onofrychuk was also involved but moved away recently.

"It's all entirely up to them," Isert says about the amount of hours each scout puts in. "They're all on their own," he added.

The volunteer work is coordinated through the hospital and the scouts work on "set hours and set days," Isert explained.

Parkland council

Old issues face council

Issues that faced Parkland's previous council will return to dog the new, nine-man body says the new county reeve.

Western secession, possible lower provincial government funding and disturbing changes to the county act will again have to be addressed by Parkland county council Reeve Ron Pollock said recently.

But there should be no major changes in the way the county deals with any of the issues.

The county will maintain a neutral position on the Drayton Valley separation, keep an eye on the new county bill scheduled to appear in the spring legislation and look for ways of coping with possible government funding cutbacks — either through tax increases or service reductions, the reeve said.

Pollock was voted reeve for the year by fellow councillors at the Oct. 27 county council organizational meeting.

He defeated fellow councillor Division 6 representative, Ken Fuhr for the right to chair county meetings.

Changes to the county act could upset the balance between the county and school board on budget matters.

"The county is faced with quite a few issues," Pollock said.

"The Drayton Valley issue will be with us quite a while and possibly some major changes to the county act. Those would be the two major issues."

Parkland was wise to take a neutral stand on the possible split of the west end from Parkland, he said. That is better than becoming embroiled in the controversy as has Leduc County.

"I'm still convinced that is appropriate. But, sometimes it's frustrating. Ratepayers aren't getting all the information they should."

The reeve said he hadn't any particular goals he'd like to see achieved in council although, "I hope to expedite things a little bit quicker."

"At the same time I don't want to stifle debate."

Pollock, who represents Division 1, has served on council for two terms. As an east-end resident his role as council spokesman will be balanced by west-end Division 9 resident Henry Rondeau, chosen as deputy reeve.

Rondeau won the nod for deputy reeve after defeating Division 2 Councillor George Sewell in a secret council ballot.

Local residents honored

Three Drayton Valley residents are scheduled to receive individual course awards at Athabasca University.

Karen Lasby is the recipient of a $50 award in Administration 232 for attaining the highest mark in the course, over 85 per cent. Similar $50 awards go to Joseph Thompson in Economics 246 and Phyllis Visscher in Sociology 365.

Active senior

Regenwetter vividly recalls the Buck Creek mud

By Donna Haskedal
The discovery of oil in the Pembina field attracted men from many parts of the country.

Many of them brought wives who did not necessarily share their enthusiasm, but came anyway, leaving modern homes to live in what seemed an isolated area where winter was the only reprieve from the sticky, gooey mud.

Agnes Regenwetter was one of those wives. But she had known hard times long before she encountered Buck Creek mud. She was a teenager during the Depress.

Born in Wadena, Sask., and raised on a farm 18 miles from town, she walked three miles to a country school. At 15 Regenwetter went out working to help her folks through a "rough time."

At first she did housework including baking bread and milking cows for $5 a month. "Isn't that awful?" she says now.

At one farm she was paid $5 a month by her employer and the government contributed $5. Here she milked eight cows manually, morning and night, did the housework including baking bread, washing and ironing clothes and general work around the house. But she was happy to get the $5. "You could buy a pair of shoes for $2 then." She still managed to send a little money home.

At the age of 19 Regenwetter went to work in New Westminster, B.C. for $30 a month, more than the going rate. "I thought I was pretty well off," said Regenwetter.

In 1942 Agnes married a Saskatchewan farm boy working in B.C. — Ben

Agnes Regenwetter

Regenwetter. They then moved to his father's farm near Watson, Sask. in an "old jealousy".

Their four boys were born while on the farm. They then moved back to B.C. where he worked at a garage and their first daughter was born.

They had sold the farm, but returned to Saskatchewan where Ben worked as a mechanic at Quill Lake. When the news of the Pembina Field oil strike arrived, Ben decided to join the throng of rig workers. After about a month of rig work, Ben decided to take a job as a mechanic at a garage in Breton. The family moved out in July 1956.

They tied their mattresses to the top of the car and with their five children and their belongings in the car, arrived at Breton very tired. The rest of their belongings were shipped by train.

When Ben took her to Buck Creek to show her where he had worked on the rig, Agnes was disheartened. Now, according to Agnes, she would never move back to Saskatchewan.

About a year later Ben got work at a garage in Buck Creek. "Remember that mud?" says Agnes.

Shortly after the move their second daughter was born.

"I often think of the piles of jeans," she said. They had no sewer and water was carried by pail, heated on the stove and carried out after it had done the week's laundry.

She laughs when she recalls Saturday night bath-tubs. There were few modern bathtubs in the oil patch then and the most popular bath was a wash tub in which people took turns. Leftover water was often used to wash floors.

Agnes remembers the fun times — ladies club meetings, bingo, etc.

The Regenwetters eventually purchased the garage at Buck Creek and built a new home (with water and sewer). Some years later Ben bought a gravel truck and Agnes ran the garage. Soon after, tragedy struck when Ben was severely injured.

Their son Don took over the garage and Ben and Agnes built a house on their farm southeast of Buck Creek. They lived there for a few years then moved to Drayton Valley in 1977. Ben died in the spring of 1985.

Agnes has been active in the Women's Institute and the senior citizen's club since moving to Drayton Valley. This summer she travelled from coast to coast, making two trips to B.C. (Expo and a family reunion and to Osoyoos). Her trip east was a tour which she really enjoyed. "I stuck my foot in the ocean," she says. She recently returned from a trip to Medicine Hat where she competed in senior bowling and also toured the Badlands and the new museum near Drumheller.

Agnes has six children and 11 grandchildren.

Annual convention

Town will be well represented

The town of Drayton Valley will be well represented at the 80th annual convention of the Alberta Urban Municipalities Association in Edmonton Nov. 19-22.

Members of council and town manager Manny Deol are scheduled to attend.

The town will introduce one resolution at the convention, dealing with the tax recovery process.

Newly elected mayors, aldermen and councillors will receive an orientation in the processes of local government at the convention.

The association's own internal election promises to be lively and also well contested. President Doug Fee, the mayor of Innisfail, has served two years and has announced he will retire this year. There is a lot of interest in the presidency, and it is unlikely the position will be filled by acclamation, as it has often been in the past.

In excess of 1,000 delegates are expected at the convention.

International peace, justice tour visits in Breton

By Shelli Carson

On Nov. 4 seven students involved with the International Youth For Peace and Justice Tour visited the village of Breton.

Upon arrival, they were given a civic reception and dinner at the Breton Community Centre. They were welcomed by Breton Mayor Colleen Lee and presented with Breton pins and brochures following the meal. In appreciation for participating in the tour, "I'm sure everyone here has either hoped or prayed for world peace," said Mayor Lee.

Neil White, representing the Breton Covenant Church Youth Group, gave a brief history of the tour which was initiated in 1985 in respect of the International Youth Year and continued in 1986 in respect of International Year of Peace.

Members of the tour in clude youth from various war torn countries as well as Canadians who share the common dream of world peace. Six provinces, including Alberta, are taking part in the tour this year, with the Breton group being one of 12 teams.

Johnathon Carruthers, spokesman for the group, in troduced each member. Carruthers indicated a major purpose of the tour is to make Canadians aware of the problems existing both inside and outside of their country.

Later that day the tour spoke to a general assembly of students at the Breton high school. The first speaker was a young man from Bangladesh. He told of the group formed in his country, of which he is a member, that is focusing on aid for the poor and homeless. He stated unemployment and lack of education are major social problems in Bangladesh, where six and seven-year old children must look for work in order to feed themselves or resort to searching in garbage cans to stay alive.

Anti-Semitism was the topic covered in an emotional speech by a Canadian student from Montreal. The granddaughter of holocaust victims told of the fear she faces even today, of people who "hate her when they don't even know her." "Prejudice did not die at the end of WWII," she stated, and emphasized it must be confronted, not ignored, before we can put an end to it.

country and the positive effects of the new government, a reduction in illiteracy from 52 per cent to 12 per cent.

But peace is far from reality with much death and destruction caused by the conflict between the counter-revolutionaries and the government. "The

One would think the famine in Ethiopia would be the topic of that country's student, but she felt the revolution currently tearing her country apart was a subject she could speak on with more authority. This speaker gave background information about Ethiopia, describing the overtaking of the monarchy in 1974, thus making it a Communist country ruled by only a few who make the decisions for the whole country. Speaking from first-hand experience her story was heart wrenching — torture, murder, slavery and oppression.

She is now living as a refugee in Montreal, but many of her family are still in Ethiopia. The only reference to the famine was that in 1985, when all the food was pouring in from Canada and the States, the Soviet Union was pouring in military aid at the same time. The food rotted in the harbor while the weapons were delivered first. Aid finally came from some of the European countries by air — the people thought God was sending food from heaven. "People from my country are not only dying from the famine, but are also being massacred by the government. Man must put an end to war before war puts an end to man," she pleaded.

The student from Nicaragua, speaking through an interpreter, began by giving his thanks for the aid sent to his homeland. He spoke of the political history of his alcohol abuse.

Speaking of the prejudice he faced through his early teenage years, his testimonial was a familiar one but one with a positive outcome. He is now off drugs and alcohol and is helping other young people, both native and white and mostly teenagers. He has counselled some as young as seven and eight years-of-age. "Drugs and alcohol are a dead end street," he said. "If you're on them you're going nowhere."

The student from El Salvador, again speaking from first-hand experience, described the repression that began more than 50 years ago in his country.

In 1960 his father was killed by the 'death squads'. His crime being that he was involved in a union and was asking for better working conditions and a better life for the working people. "American intervention has made the war last longer and has killed more people," he said. The people of El Salvador who are not victims of death squads are dying of malnutrition and starvation. He urged the audience to contact solidarity groups to end the oppression so the people of his country can have peace.

Johnathon Carruthers from Montreal was the final speaker. He began with a horrifying description of the bombing of Hiroshima.

"Nuclear war is dangerous," he said, "you should try to avoid it." Speaking against the arms race and Canada's involvement in the testing of the cruise missile, exporting of nuclear reactors and uranium. Carruthers gave a detailed description of the vast and destructive stores of both the Soviet Union and the United States.

He spoke of the social in justice of the arms race, when one billion of the world's people don't have the basic needs. He gave a gruesome description of the effects of a nuclear war and ended with a plea to the audience to become more aware of the issue. "Read, and be aware of the effects of nuclear war, the arms race, oppression, and the condition of Third World countries," he emphasized. He reminded the audience they lived in a country where they have the luxury of making all the issues talked about election issues by writing letters. "Use your democratic right, not only as a benefit for Canada's survival but for the world's survival," he added.

Breton high school principal Jim Mussen then presented the speakers with high school pins in appreciation for their commitment to their cause.

The tour attended the youth group's spaghetti supper at the Faith Covenant Church and spoke again at a program at the church that evening. The youth were billeted for the night in homes of the members of the youth group.

The tour was a combined effort of the Faith Covenant Church Youth Group, the Breton high school and the Village of Breton.

Around-the-world trip ends at Drayton Valley Turbo

After spending five years in Singapore and Indonesia, Dennis Kulasa has returned to Drayton Valley.

Kulasa is the new manager of the local Turbo gas station.

"I did a lot of work here with Newaco," says Kulasa about coming to Drayton Valley in the late 1970s.

Now, almost 10 years later Kulasa, a mechanic by trade, has taken over the Turbo station.

"It'll basically be run the same as before," he adds.

So far business has been good since Kulasa took over November 1.

"It all depends on what day it is," he adds, pointing out it seems to get busier later in the week. "Sunday is basically a slow day," he says.

The gas bar's hours run from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. six days a week and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Sundays.

Kulasa himself is at work every day at 6 a.m.

Currently, hunters are some of his biggest customers. They "also get quite a few" from out of town, Kulasa explains.

Kulasa, who plans to get married in the spring, says they also service quite a few company fleets.

"It's nice here," he says, adding the weather is "different" from conditions in Indonesia or Singapore.

School boards elect their 1987 chairmen

The people made their choice, and now so have the school boards.

Both the County of Parkland and separate school boards have elected people to chair the associations.

Vi Helm was picked to lead the county system and Paul Duckett was chosen to chair the separate schools.

Helm comes to her position with nine years on the board, including chairman of the finance committee and she chaired the board for three months as part of the rotation system it uses.

Helm is also the first woman to chair the board and the first chairperson from the west-end of the county.

"It's a heavy responsibility, but I feel up to the challenge and will do the best I can. I've served on most of the committees, but it's still difficult to chair right after elections. You have to convince everyone back into things. In the past the board has been well run and you don't go in looking to change things," she said.

For Duckett the scenario is similar.

He has also been vice chairman of the board during his previous term and is looking forward to the challenge.

He agrees with Helm "there's a lot more to learn being in the chair position."

Like the county system the separate schools haven't gotten into the thick of things, yet, but they're set to go Nov. 27 with a review of last year and the presenting of the budget.

Office busy with young offenders

By Gary Logie
There was no shortage of work for Drayton Valley's Community Corrections in October, reports its administrator.

Statistics show the office handled 41 adult and 32 young offender cases last month, an increase of five cases over September, but down from the monthly average of 86.

The majority of the cases were "break and enter, theft and alcohol-related to some extent," said Paul Duckett.

Because many of the cases are minor in nature, authorities agree to put of fenders on various probationary programs like the Alternative Measures Act, or the Fine Options.

Under the alternatives method the offender is "prevented from going to court and getting a record. It's like saying to them: 'You've made a mistake, now learn from it.'"

"It also lets them learn about the criminal justice system and hopefully, they won't be back," said Duckett.

The fine option lets of fenders who were fined work it off through community work, as does the alternatives program. They also try to involve the victim as much as possible, but not always, he continued.

A recent change in policy has helped in reducing the amount of supervision to minor offenders.

"Our policy now allows for us to early terminate some cases. Previously, we hadn't been able to drop and close the file, now we can."

"Basically we're saying they're a good risk. It also provides some incentive for them to behave (while under supervision) and it frees up time for those who really need the help," he said.

Unfortunately, "we always get some repeaters or siblings, but it's hard to say how many and most of the cases are new."

Despite the rise, the caseload is far below the all time high of 128 cases the office encountered "right after the implementation of the Young Offenders Act in August 1984," he said.

Junior Forest Wardens

Club back in full swing of things

Not afraid of a little snow or cold? — then the Junior Forest Wardens (JFW) is just what the westerner ordered.

After taking the summer off the JFW have gotten back into the swing of things. Thirty people attended their orientation barbecue Oct. 16.

They have also started getting together Thursdays at H.W. Pickup school from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., alternating weeks between the 20 Trailblazers and five Adventurers.

But, organizers said, the Thursday meetings are open to anyone interested in joining. They can attend a couple of meetings before deciding if they want to join and before they pay their $35 fee. The fee includes the use of a uniform.

Besides the Thursday evenings, the group also has several winter camping trips planned.

During the outings group leaders try to stress family oriented events and encourage parents to drop by anytime to take part or just to watch.

The first camping trip will be Nov. 21 at the group's camp ground just north of Drayton Valley. Followed by a trip Jan. 30 to the JFW provincial camp north of Edmonton.

During the camping trips the junior wardens are taught things like cross country skiing, snow shoeing and search and rescue procedures.

Other plans for the group involve a family Christmas party and possibly taking over basic maintenance of a town park next spring.

"That would fit in very well with our scheme. Our prime purpose is in natural resource preservation and proper use, including the low impact camping," said organizer Al Chesterman.

Parkland County schedules four meetings for 1987

The County of Parkland is planning four meetings for Drayton Valley.

March, June and September 1987.

Their first regular council meeting in December will be held in Drayton Valley followed by meetings in Regular meetings of council will be held in the county office at Stony Plain on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 10 a.m.

All alcohol will produce the same effect

Can I have problems with alcohol if I only drink beer?

Yes. The alcohol content in beer varies from 3.5% in a low alcohol content beer to 5% in a standard beer. A 12-ounce bottle of standard beer contains the same amount of alcohol as a 1 1/2-ounce shot of whiskey, a 5-ounce glass of table wine, or a 3-ounce glass of fortified wine (sherry or other dessert wine).

The alcohol is more diluted in beer than in whiskey.

However, the eventual effect on a body of the absolute alcohol contained in all alcoholic beverages is the same.

Traffic club enters third year

The County of Parkland Junior Traffic Safety Officer Club enters its third year with 513 members.

Cpl. Gary Hubka of the Parkland Police, who acts as the club's president, recently began distributing the first of four newsletters members will receive during the coming school term.

Hubka introduced the Parkland Panda as the club's mascot last year and has had some Parkland Panda hand puppets made up as prizes for newsletter contests this year.

November's issue draws attention to National Crime Prevention Week (Nov. 2-8) with a poster coloring contest for students in Grades 2-3 and 1 and an essay contest for club members in Grades 5 and 6.

The JTSO Club draws members from eight rural county schools.

Hubka plans to visit the schools during recess and lunch breaks during the coming weeks and will be asking students if they know the safety tip highlighted in the club newsletter (this month's issue tells students never to go with strangers, no matter how nice they may seem).

Prizes are awarded to students who know the answer.

Prizes will also be awarded for the winning entry from each grade level in the coloring and essay contests.

Bob Dykes

Cardium Theatre

Hard work for movies

Not many people retire into a full-time job — but Bob Dykes did.

When he left his position with the town in September of '85 he wanted something to do with his time, so he became manager of Drayton Valley's Cardium Theatre.

"I wanted to stay occupied and this came up and so far it has been working out quite well. It's less demanding, there's no stress and it's fun. I enjoy it because it lets me stay in touch with the public," he said.

Besides managing the theatre and its five employees, Dykes also runs the projector, which lets him see a lot of movies or "at least, parts of them."

He also picks up and ships movies to the chain's other theatres.

And it's hard work finding good movies to draw large crowds.

"It's hard to get good movies. There's a great demand for them, but we do our best to get our share."

"And then the crowds vary according to each movie. I often get sick of seeing the movies after a while."

Even if the adult crowds vary from movie to movie, he said "the merchant matinees are going really well. We're looking for more sponsors to do it."

There may be some other changes made in the way of renovations, but nothing definite has been decided, he said.

Pick-up runs into Mobil Oil gate

During the night of Oct. 10 to Oct. 11, a pickup with grey plastic headlight moldings ran into a Mobil Oil gate at the end of the dump road. The RCMP office is in possession of grey plastic molding and round headlight pieces.

How quickly we forget

"Not just tears — buckets were shed"

My brother announced at Thanksgiving he will be having a baby in May okay, my brother AND his wife.

I'm thrilled and can hardly wait.

My sister-in-law, on the other hand, can wait.

I'm thrilled. She's scared. Smart girl.

It's surprising how quickly we forget what it is like to be pregnant for the first time.

She started asking me questions about what it was like for me and so I spent an afternoon remembering. It's funny — the more we reminisced the more the scariness came back. Scariness is a nice word, in my case the real word was terror!

Like waiting nine months and how everyone thought it was so long. Are you kidding? I could have happily stayed pregnant forever. Nine months was when the baby was supposed to come out.

I wasn't ready.

The closer I got to my due date the closer I got to realizing that meant facing the delivery room. No thanks is it possible to stay pregnant 10, 11 months? Please?

Being pregnant brings lots of changes. There's the usual, expected changes such as nausea and being tired all of the time. And then there is my own particular, unexpected favorite of being a little teary-eyed all the time. Only I didn't just cry — I cried buckets!

I cried for no reason and for any reason. And it started early. Shortly after I announced I was pregnant my sister and her husband telephoned to say they were coming for a visit. I cried My sister was touched that I was so overjoyed at her coming. (Actually, she was shocked I love my sister dearly, but cry because she was coming for a visit? Really?)

I waited. I especially waited for the crib, playpen and change table they would be bringing along: Hand-me-downs from her other three boys, but new baby-things to me.

Two days before they were to arrive she phoned to say they wouldn't be bringing the baby things. Not this trip, maybe next time I tried to be brave. I failed. I explained I wanted to set up the nursery. I wanted to be sure to have everything ready when the baby arrived. Neither of us mentioned the fact that I was only two-and-a-half weeks pregnant.

She didn't want to upset me further so she phoned back to say they would bring the baby things. I cried again.

When she arrived alone saying her husband would be starting divorce proceedings on Monday due to the packing problems they encountered, I was overwhelmed. A crib, playpen, change table, three boys AND her husband to do, all fit into a Volvo.

What did I do? Did I offer to drive back and pick up her family? No. I did what any normal, pregnant woman in the same situation would have done — I cried.

Strange though, once I finally did arrive in the delivery room the tears were gone. I was too scared. Eight hours. Not too bad, actually.

I learned one thing though. Don't be a hero. Take ALL the drugs they offer you. And if the patient in the bed next to yours doesn't want her medication. ASK FOR IT.

Truthfully, part of being pregnant is being a little afraid. Wondering what being pregnant will be like, scared of the delivery, unsure of how you're going to cope once you actually have that little baby in your life. (This, of course, is the most frightening of all but we don't realize it until it's too late. Ask any mother of a two-year old.) Afraid of the unknown mostly.

But it's only a small part of what lies ahead. Imagine the joy at seeing that little face! A lifetime filled with wonder at this new little being, who so quickly becomes a part of your life. I know, because I have two. They fill your days with laughter and tears, ups and downs, and so very, very much love.

What an afternoon. It sure brought back a lot of memories. A baby, I can hardly wait! My sister-in-law, however, has decided not to have her baby in May. She's hoping to hold out until...well, how about 1988?

Bossert receives first place for '69 Chevy truck from the 13th Annual Motorsports Expo World of Wheels in Edmonton with a first place trophy for his 1969

Chev truck he has restored. The event took place Oct 10-12. He also received a plaque in Red Deer.

Diana Rowan is taking a refresher course as an RNA at the Alberta Vocational Centre in Edmonton. She will be finished at the end of January and will be required to work in a hospital for a number of weeks.

Sympathy is extended to Blanche Hammond and families on the death of her husband, Clyde.

Dallas Sargeant's mother had a farewell supper in his honor at their home Oct. 25. Sargeant will be leaving with Don and Ruth Cook to spend the winter with them in Arizona.

In Memoriam

JOURNEN, Martha
In loving memory of our mother, grand mother & great-grandmother who passed away Nov. 16/86.
Mom, you left us one year ago today. You are in our hearts and in our minds forever and a day.
In our hearts is where you will always stay.
Loved and remembered each and every day.

Sadly missed & forever loved & cherished are our memories by your loving family.

OSTOPCHUK, William
In loving memory of William Ostopchuk who passed away Nov. 10/72.

It's been fourteen years since you've left us. But your memory is with us forever. Your loving face, your voice, to see, to hear.

Would be, oh so wonderful. But we know this can never be. Precious are the memories we have to remember you by. Which we will cherish till the day we die.

We love forever, Mom, Peter & Helen

DOUGLAS, Charles
In memory of the man who brought sunshine to our door, Charles Douglas of him will be with us forever more.
Not a super-being, but a man, his friend and his dad.
The Lord knows he tried to live his life the best that he could.

We're proud to say that we know him! Charles Douglas will be deeply missed by all of us who loved him.

ANDERSON, Rachel
In loving memory of Rachel Anderson who passed away four years ago Nov. 20/82.

I pray to God in Heaven
Take this message up above;
Tell her how much we miss her,
And give her our love.
Gone dear mother, gone to rest,
Away from sorrow, care and pain,
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
But still the vacant chair
Reminds the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
He try to make some other bright,
If sick and suffering one else knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do,
No thought of self, but of "the other".
We know He said, "Well done, dear mother".
Those whom we love, go out of sight,
But never out of mind.
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
May her soul rest in peace;
Perpetual light shine on her.

Until we meet again,
Hubby, Call Anderson & families
